RESUME OF KOPIVITAMIN CHARACTERISTICS

Tongkat ali (Eurycoma Longifolio)

It's an Asian tree growing in Indonesia and Malaysia.

Medicinal properties : Tongkat ali is known for its sexual enhancement features. Its ability to boost natural testosterone allows it to increase libido, muscle mass, energy and sports performances.

Guarana (Paullinia cupana)

It is a sacred plant from the Amazon rainforest. Its main component is guaranine which is identical to caffeine. In addition it contains theophylline, Theobromine, hypoxanthine, mucilages, pectins, tannins, amino acids, essential fatty acids, mineral salts, elements oligo, vitamins A, E, B1, B3, PP.

Medicinal properties : physical and intellectual stimulant in case of fatigue or intense activity (physical and intellectual asthenia). Guarana improves endurance and cognitive abilities like concentration and memory. Guarana facilitates slimming cures; helps fight against intestinal disorders, diarrhea and hypotension.

Maca (Lepidium meyeri)

It is a tuber that grows in Latin America. It is composed of 10 to 15% of proteins, minerals (mainly potassium, calcium, phosphorus, sulfur, but also some iron, manganese, selenium, copper, zinc and magnesium, 07 vitamins (B1, B12, C, D3, E, P) as well as 19 amino acids. Maca also contains tannins, saponins, alkaloids (macamides and macaenes), as well as isothiocyanates and glucosinolates.

Medicinal properties : Maca is known to have tonic effects on the immune system and fertility. It improves the quantity and quality of sperm.

Stevia (Stevia rebaudiana)

This plant is native to South East Central America. First of all, you should know that unrefined fresh stevia, sugar about 20 times more than sugar, is due to steviol glycosides (or steviosides or rebaudiosides). Unlike sugar, stevia extracts have several unique properties, they tolerate high temperatures, do not ferment, and calories are close to zero. The plant also contains many sterols and antioxidant compounds such as triterpenes, flavonoids and tannins. Finally, the plant contains many mineral salts and vitamins, absent artificial sweeteners.

Medicinal properties : It is a natural sweetener. It's a plant that controls cholesterol, blood pressure; promotes the fight against obesity and modifies very little the level of glucose in the blood. It is therefore very interesting for diabetics, people who have high blood pressure or low carb diets. This plant is a remedy for treating diabetes, high blood pressure and stress.

Coffee (organic)

It is a stimulating psychotropic energy drink, obtained from roasted seeds of various varieties of coffee, coffee shrub, of the kind Coffea. It is one of the top three most consumed caffeinated beverages in the world, with tea and mate.

Medicinal properties : Caffeine has proven positive effects on the urogenital tract. Not only does it promote a better motricity of the spermatozoa. Coffee would also protect against liver cancer and reduce the risk of mouth cancer, pharynx and esophagus. It would relieve migraines and chronic headaches, regulating blood sugar and transit. Finally, it would decrease age-related memory impairment, improve long-term memory, the ability to anticipate and the performance of psychomotor tests.

Non-dairy matter ecremes : contain dairy proteins.

PHARMACOLOGY

Under the special action of Tongkat ali (Eurycoma longifolia), testosterone sequestered in the blood is released and becomes active and usable testosterone by lowering SHBG (mandatory globulin, sex hormone) by an average of 30%. It also increases the metabolism of tissues associated with sexual functions to 60%.
